

Presenter Profile

Steve Johnson
Director, Talent Acquisition
Colliers International

With more than 20 years in Talent Acquisition, Steve is an experienced talent acquisition leader with exposure across multiple industries such as consulting, financial services and engineering. For the past seven years, he has played a leadership role within the CRE industry, having led the talent acquisition functions for QuadReal and now at Colliers. In his role at Colliers, he is responsible for their North American talent acquisition function, where he leads a team of 20 talent acquisition professionals. Over his career, he has brought a people first approach, while striving to create deep, long-lasting relationships with clients and candidates alike.